We may live without love, we may live without books, But civilized man cannot live without cooks.

—Owen Meredith.
And our cooks cannot cook without the materials necessary to constitute meals. Those materials, in order to produce good, wholesome food, must be of the best quality. To procure them of the desired quality we must go to the right place for them. The right place, as every one familiar with the subject will tell you, is Jacoby's!

What he hasn't got in the way of first-class, high-grade materials for good, wholesome, delicious food—"fit for the gods" themselves—you might put in a wheelbarrow. What he has got can scarcely be learned without visiting that wonderful place, where he keeps enough of everything good to eat to victual a warship or supply an army, and inspecting the enormous variety of household supplies of every imaginable description, displayed so that every purchaser can select at will, and all of the choicest and best to be found in any market.

This is no flight of fancy, but the plain, unvarnished truth. If you doubt it, go to 114 to 120 East Government street and be convinced.

Call for State Convention.

Call for a State Democratic convention to be held at Jacksonville, Fla., Tuesday, June 19, 1900.
The democratic party of the state of Florida will hold a state convention at Jacksonville on Tuesday, June 19, at 12 noon, for the following purposes:
To choose delegates to represent the state in the national democratic convention, to be held at Kansas City, Mo., July 4, 1900; to nominate candidates for the offices of Governor, one Justice of the Supreme Court, a Secretary of State, Attorney-General, Comptroller, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Commissioner of Agriculture, a Railroad Commissioner for the term of four years, four Presidential Electors and four alternates, to be voted for at the next regular state election, and to transact such other business as may come before the convention.

The different counties in the state will send delegates to the convention upon the following basis of representation: One delegate for each one hundred votes cast for the candidate on the state ticket who received the highest number of votes at the general election of 1896, and one additional delegate for the fraction in excess thereof, when it amounts to fifty or more. The committee has also allowed additional representation where the vote was increased at the election of 1896 in any county for state officers. The counties under this rule will be entitled to representation as follows:

Alachua	14	Leon	14
Bradford	6	Levy	4
Baker	2	Liberty	1
Brevard	6	Manatee	1

Holmes	4	Taylor	4
Jackson	9	Volusia	8
Jefferson	14	Wakulla	5
Jefferson	14	Washington	5
Lake	2
Lee	2

The counties will select their delegates in any manner which may be considered best for the purpose of electing delegates to the convention. The party organization as recognized by the last state convention. All democrats are invited to participate in the selection of delegates hereto including those who have become qualified to vote since the last election.

The chairman and secretary of each county convention held for the purpose of electing delegates to the state convention are requested to send to Hon. W. A. Rawls, Chairman of the Executive Committee, a written or printed copy of the proceedings of such county convention, together with a list of the names and addresses of the delegates, in which should be designated the chairman and secretary of such committee.
